7 Students Named To Who's Who

To be named to Who's Who, one must, in addition to being classified as a junior, show excellent scholarship (at least a 2.00 average), leadership, citizenship and character in connection with the school as well as with the community. These students who are elected must show promise in their chosen fields of endeavor.

He was killed on November 15, when he was driving overturned twenty-six miles south of Waynesboro, Georgia. After graduating from Gillespie-Selden Institute and serving his tour of duty with the United States Army Airborne, he entered Savannah State during the winter quarter, 1956, where he participated in the Y. ## Cooperation, Where Is Thy Sting?

Cooperation, according to the Merriam-Webster Collegiate Dictionary, means working jointly for a mutual benefit. The same word when used to describe the actions of our students means just the opposite. Why is it that something has caused the school spirit to sink to such a low level? It is the opinion of this column that something has killed the school spirit of our students. One no longer hears the exclamation, "It's give it the old college leg!" Even the Greek letter organizations are lagging. Where is the competitive spirit that we usually find in groups of that type? It may not have been noticed, but our homecoming activities were affected by this very low cooperative spirit. Wherever floats and cars were being decorated, very small groups were doing all of the work. Each of these groups was part of a larger group that should have been working. Even though this column realizes that this is a subject much too broad to speak about, it also feels that these observations must be placed before the public.

Returning to the subject of homecoming, I should like to make mention of the fact that the float of the Campus Queen should always be the most beautiful. Yet, only the Student Council President and a few steadfast members of the council decorated the float. This has happened for the past three years. Why is it that out of an enrollment of over one thousand, only five people worked on the Queen's float? It is the responsibility of every student attending this institution to work on a project of this type.

This column has expressed the opinion of a few; it is up to you to decide if with this opinion will stand up under the bombardment of public criticism. At any rate, the fact remains, a school is made up mainly of students, regardless of the number of officials responsible for administration. Any school is only so good as the students that are enrolled. The success of any school rests on the shoulders of each individual. He can let his shoulders sag and drag the name of the school in the mud, or he can hold them erect and carry the school's banner high.

This column would like to be quoted as saying: "This is our school; let's cooperate with all of its programs; they are offered for the benefit of all."

Clevon Johnson.

Six Day School Week In The Making

Within the next five years it may be necessary to hold college classes on Saturdays to take care of the additional students who will be attending universities by that time. High school graduates should be used to that procedure, because they will probably be on a six-day week before the college.

In making this prediction, Dr. H. J. Sheffield, director of admissions and registration at the University of Southern California, said that by using Saturday as a school day, enrollments can be expanded by as much as one-fifth. He sounded the following warning: "Don't!"

"Don't offer fewer personal services and less individual help to students simply because there appears to be an endless supply with which to replace your drop outs."

"Don't push your part-time student, or students who belong to some other marginal category, out of your school without considering them individually. Realize that many of our best citizens have worked their way through college at advanced ages and in considerably more than the usual four years.

"Don't limit your enrollment to the number you can accommodate in your present dormitory space. Investigate governmental and other housing plans that will make possible added enrollment."

"Don't expand your enrollment to a point where you cannot offer a sound academic program. Recognize that it is easily possible to do little for too many."

"Don't be misled into a belief that the problems of admissions, enrollment and retention will be confined to undergraduate programs. Realize that graduate schools, professional schools, and advanced study at all levels through the doctor's degree must be provided."

The Periscope

By U. Eugene Hubbard

For the past few months all the world's attention has been focused on the Middle East crisis, where the seeds of World War III could be sprouting.

After Britain and France destroyed the Soviet equipped Air Force of Egypt, crippled the small Egyptian fleet, and wrecked much of the organized land forces of that country, a cease-fire followed. Now the U. N. is organizing a Police Force that will move to enforce a truce. The United Nations that the main objective of the British-French action was to drive Egypt's dictator, Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, from his position of power; Col. Nasser, however, still remains in power. The Suez Canal is not under control of British troops. It remains blocked. This again is a failure of British-French movements.

Russia threatened to send what they termed volunteers for Egypt's army if Britain, France and Israel delay withdrawal of their troops from Egypt and warned that she may use force if these countries defied U. N. peace moves.

This is a move Soviet leaders have made down through the years, and on many similar occasions.

Reports have been made that because Britain feels that the U. S. failed them in the Middle East crisis, they are now planning to support the Chinese bid for a seat in the U. S. The British had agreed to back U. S. efforts to keep Red China out of the U. N. for at least one more year in return for U. S. backing in the Middle East.

The crisis in the Middle East with its continued uprisings leads one to wonder:

What lies ahead now in the turbulent Middle East?

Is the Soviet Union plotting another Korea type war there?

Is World War III in sight?

Can the U. N.'s police force actually maintain peace in Egypt?

Can the U. N. order any nation around?

Was not the Korean war called a police action?

THINGS MUST BE GETTING MIGHTY ROUGH

We knew that beef prices were down, but had no idea they were as low as this story from the Kansas State Collegian indicates:

A new depth was reached this week on the cattle market. A farmer down in Missouri set a 3-week-old Jersey milk to market. It sold for $1.25. The sales barn charges 60 cents for commission, 25 cents for yard fees and 5 cents for insurance.

For a minute, the farmer thought he had a neat 35-cent profit. Then the trucker handed him a $1 statement for hauling. So, in the end, he lost 65 cents.

The world's best afterdinner speech: "Walter, give me both checks."

Clark Appointed

To Scholarship Board

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has appointed Dr. Felton O. Clark, president of Southern University, to membership on the Board of Foreign Scholarships, according to a formal announcement by the Department of State.

The board was established by Public Law 584 of the 78th Congress (the Fulbright Act) specifying that the President of the United States name "10 United States citizens prominent in public and private educational and cultural activities" for the purpose of selecting students and educational institutions qualified to participate in the program, and to supervise the exchange program, authorized by the Fulbright Act.

Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, president of the University of Alabama, is chairman of the board. Other members include: Dean C. Joseph Nuesse, Catholic University of America; Dr. John N. Anley, Veterans Administration; President Katherine G. Blyler, Keuka College, New York; U. S. Commissioner of Education Samuel Brownell; Dr. Bernice Crampton, dean of the Graduate School, Radcliffe College; Roger A. Moore, Harvard Law School; Dr. Francis Scott Smyth, University of California Medical Center; and Anthony Philip H. Wilkie, Rushville, Ind.

The Educational Exchange Program is now almost ten years old, during which period nearly 25,000 carefully selected people from the United States and twenty-eight countries have been recipients of grants. In 1955, grants were made to 4,358 individuals. From available funds of $14,028,467.06, it is expected that approximately the same number will be issued this year.

Baylor Has Dormitory For Married Students

The $375,000 48-apartment dormitory Baylor University has built for married students is becoming a "model plan" for other universities across the country. Dr. Roy J. McKnight, vice president, said that business-of-finance officials of other colleges have inquired about the unique dormitory plan so that they may duplicate the idea on their campus.

Officials of the Home and Business Finance Council, which have expressed favorable favor with Baylor's pioneering venture.

"All utilities paid" make the $75 monthly rental charge for the completely furnished and completely modern air-conditioned apartments "phenomenally cheap," according to housing experts. While no breakdown is shown on the bills, Baylor officials figure that the cost includes $45 rent on the space itself, $10 for furniture, $10 for utilities and $10 for the year-round heating and cooling system.

Dr. McKnight and Dean of Men W. C. Perry "dressed up" the building with a program of critical need for housing accommodations for married students. The apartment dormitory is arranged in two separate buildings comprised of 24 apartments each. There are two floors, six apartments on each level on each side of the building. Long open porches open on each side. The building cost, all told counting land, construction and furniture, about $375,000—or about $8,300 per unit.

N. Y. U. Fraternities

Defends Fraternities

A New York University professor, Richard D. Mallory, recently defended fraternities during a speech before a YMCA in that city. Said Professor Mallory: "If the fraternity is what its enemies say it is, then it is hard to understand the encouragement and support that have been given to fraternities during the past century by the better American colleges."

The professor went on to say that the congenial environment found in fraternities is of great importance. He also added that residence on campus should be a factor in fraternal life.

Professor Mallory emphasized the fact that although a limited number of students live and work together in a fraternity, tolerance for differences of opinion, high standards of taste, and good conduct are developed. He also declared that by democratic self government in the chapter house, fraternity men become better fitted to assume the larger responsibilities of the student council and other college organizations.

Mallory told the YMCA audience that a limit should be placed on the number of members in a chapter. "If there are over thirty," he warned, "the chapter will be headed for trouble."

A questioner asked the professor if fraternities are the nucleus of bias groups. In reply he said that "students in fraternities should be allowed to pick their own friends."

Book Week Observance

Nov. 25 to Dec. 2, 1956
Theme: It's Always Booktime

Modern man seems to be on a twenty-four hour merry-go-round. One cannot say to him "It is time to be heavy on your hands, do this or that" because there never seems to be any time left over at the end of the day. All America has worked to put more leisure time in that twenty-four hours by shortening the work week. One might well inquire of the use to be made of this prized commodity. It is hoped that some of it will be devoted to reading. It seems, however, that reading is fast becoming a lost art as so many people now depend on television and radio for information and entertainment.

Once each year the Book World spotlights the art of reading. The College joins in this annual observance. This season Powell Laboratory School will present Marjorie Barrow's play "The Enchanted Door" in College Assembly, Thursday, November 29. The culminating activity will be given by the College Library during the Sunday Vesper hour. Immediately after this program Open House will be held in the Library.

Won't you take some time to help your College celebrate National Book Week?

Is Co-Education Desirable?

New York University is faced with the question of whether co-education is desirable. The school seems to be at least a decade long for males . . . long a claim for males . . . will start admitting female students.

Y.U. is first to conduct a $250,000 study of the University's operations have urged co-education at the earliest possible date. In support of that action, faculty members have presented the following arguments: "Co-education would make our students gentlemen . . . Our students as a whole have not had social experience . . . It would improve the social atmosphere.

On the other hand, opponents of the co-education move contend that it would destroy what they call "the desired separation of the student from his own environment." They contend that the University's chief advisors are of the opinion that this is a social and that to change this situation would be to rule out this advantage. They also say that male students might lose attachment if the girls moved in.

Are Entrance Exams Valuable?

The question of whether entrance tests at Junior College entrance tests are valuable has been debated for a long, long time. The Fresno Junior College Reporter recently published this editorial on the subject.

Many of the students who take the Junior College entrance tests which are given each year, complain that the tests are boring and time consuming and completely useless.

Let us consider the facts. Most students entering college have only a vague idea of their knowledge of the English grammar, literature, and vocabulary. They don't know whether or not they are capable of handling English 1A. Most young people cannot judge the amount of fact they need to develop in what classes are best suited to this development.

Let's take for instance a pre-need student and face the hard facts. This particular student has a knowledge of what he wants and an A class reading retentive percentage. A foreign language major or an education major had better know his own grammar backwards and forwards. This English entrance test shows what particular individuals lack in certain phases of English and what they need to develop in what classes are best suited to this development.

As far as the aptitude test is concerned you may be the type of person who knows what he wants and just what his interests are. But believe it or not there are many young people who have not yet found their true interests in life and who haven't the vaguest notion of what vocation they're best suited for. By asking the JC student very personal questions and giving the entrance test, teachers can determine a student's interests and vocational aptitude. And what could be more helpful to a teenager just entering college than this.

Scholarship Amendment Announced at University Of Pennsylvania

An amendment to the requirements for eligibility to hold a scholarship for students attending the University of Pennsylvania, was announced here by Douglas Dickson, secretary of the committee on scholarship and student aid.

The new amendment states that "an undergraduate scholarship holder must attain an academic average of 3.0 for the preceding academic year to hold a scholarship unconditionally for the next academic year."

The amendment also states that an undergraduate scholarship holder whose average in June for the preceding academic year is between 2.0 and 3.0 may have scholarship assistance renewed for one probationary year. If his annual average is less than 3.0 in June for his probationary year, his scholarship assistance will be subject to revocation, Dickson said.

A student in attendance must have a 3.0 average for the preceding academic year to be eligible for the merit award of a scholarship, he added.

There was an earthquake recently, which frightened the inhabitants of a certain town. One could not see his little son stay with an uncle in another town, explaining the reason for the nephew's sudden visit.

A day or two later, the parents received this telegram: "Am sorry about your boy. Send the earthquake."

Tigers Open Cage Season Against South Carolina State College

When the Savannah State Tigers open their cage season against South Carolina State College on December 3, Savannah will have two players on their squad who have been named to the all-conference team for three consecutive years. Robert (Rabbit) Lewis and Noel (Snuffy) Wright, who are considered by many as two of the most colorful players in this section of the country, are Savannah State's only all-conference competitors for the 1956-57 cage season.

Lewis, captain of the Tiger's squad last season, was among the consistent scorers on the team. While serving in the army, Lewis was named to the all-army team for his excellent performance on the court.

Noel Wright

Noel Wright, who shares the honor along with Lewis of being one of the toughest little men in the conference, is also one of the most effective long-shot artists that Savannah State has ever produced. Aside from being a long-shot artist, Wright is one of the fastest players on the team and one of the leading rebounders in the conference.

In addition to Wright and Lewis, the Tigers will have such players as Robert Robinson, Savannah State's leading scorer during the early part of the 1955-56 season, Clevon Johnson, Charles Ash, Thomas Adams, Charles Beard, Myles Oliver, Roy Fuller, Frank Gordon, Henry Jackson and several freshmen who will be out to capture the conference crown.

Last season the Tigers finished second in the conference and second in State tournament. The Savannah State Tigers lost their conference tournament to Albany State 72-74 and they were defeated by Morehouse in the finals of the state tournament.

The Tigrettes shared the conference crown with the girls of Albany State College and they were winners in tournament competition. The Tigrettes defeated Albany 36-34 for the tournament crown.

Marriage And College

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—(ACP)—

"There's been a lot of talk about the advantages and disadvantages of getting married while still in college. So, we pass along these observations by Professor Ralph Dakin of the sociology department at Kansas State. They were reprinted in the Syracuse Daily Orange.

Marriage and college can mix, according to Professor Dakin. He says that married students usually make higher grades. Dakin believes this is due to the increased security and responsibility. Students seem to feel that marriage actually helps their college work. And, in opposition to many studies, Dakin said that the divorce rate for college marriages is lower than for the comparable highly educated persons.

Commenting on the same subject, a Kansas publisher has said that college marriages are much more dependent on the couple's level of maturity, the degree to which they want to make a go of marriage, and their common interests than upon the influence of college life. In other words, the success of a college marriage depends upon the same factors that influence any marriage.

Dramatics Class

The first meeting of the year for the Dramatics Class was held November 1, 1956. It was characterized by great interest and enthusiasm.

The officers for the year were elected. Robert Tindal, president; Alice Bevens, recording secretary and chaplain; E. Oursner Miller, financial secretary; and Florence Bodison, reporter.

The Dramatics Class is working on the play "You Can't Take It With You" by Hart and Knickerbocker. Mr. T. E. Jordan, the advisor, is also play director. You can be sure that you will be hearing more about this fascinating play in the near future.

NATO Scholarships

For the second year the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will sponsor a scholarship program to further the study of the common traditions, historical experiences and present needs of the North Atlantic community.

NATO will sponsor a series of exchanges among the NATO countries in two categories: scholarships and research fellowships and research fellowships.

At the request of the Department of State, the Institute of International Education (1 East 67th Street, New York City) will assist in the screening and recommendation of American students for the scholarship program. The Conference Board of Associated Research Councils (2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington 25, D.C.) will screen applicants for the research fellowships. All American candidates will be chosen by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, ten leading educators and educational administrators appointed by the President of the United States. These candidates will be submitted by the Department of State to NATO's international selection committee which will make the final awards from among applicants from all NATO countries.

Competition in the United States opened August 1 and closes November 1, 1956. Candidates who have applied for United States Government foreign study grants under the Fulbright Act may also enter the NATO competition. Awards for the 1957-58 academic year will be announced April 4, 1957, the 8th anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty.

Applicants for the NATO scholarships must be United States citizens in good health. Preference will be given to candidates with some graduate training. Language proficiency will be essential for placement in non-English-speaking countries. Scholars will be selected on the basis of their scholastic record, the situations at which they propose to pursue their studies, and their subject of study. Grants will be 500,000 French francs for one academic year of study plus travel expenses.

The international selection committee will aim at an equitable distribution of awards among the member states. This is a program for exchanges among all NATO nations rather than between the United States and a limited number of other countries.

The aim of the NATO fellowship program is farthest the idea of an Atlantic Community by encouraging the study of the historical, political, legal, social, linguistic, economic and stra-

Preference will be given to candidates in the humanities and the social sciences. Projects should be directly related to some aspect or problem of the Atlantic community.

The program has been established under Article 2 of the North Atlantic Treaty which states, "The Parties will contribute toward the further development of peaceful and friendly international relations by strengthening their free institutions, by bringing about a better understanding of the principles upon which these institutions are founded, and by promoting conditions of stability and well being. They will seek to eliminate conflict in their international economic policies and will encourage collaboration between any or all of them."

Last year NATO awarded 16 scholarships and research fellowships. U.S. winner was Miss Margaret M. Ball, Political Science Professor at Wellesley College, who will conduct research on the general subject of NATO and the Western European movement at London, Paris, Bonn and other European capitals.

Candidates for the limited number of NATO scholarships should apply to the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.
